

25 January 2019

Rounds 1 & 2
Dubai Autodrome, Dubai – 25 / 26 January 2019

QUALIFYING

TCR Middle East Series - René Münnich sets pole position for round 1

The German championship contender René Münnich set the pole lap on the International circuit configuration with a time of 1:46.087 for race 1 and 2 of the TCR Middle East Series 2019.

"My best time was in lap 3. Pole position is a good result. Expectations for the race? Just fun! This is the reason why we are here, fun!" René Münnich said. "It was my first time on Hankook tires. I was surprised that lap-by-lap the performance was increasing and the tire could set the best lap not in the first but third round."

The second-best lap time was set by the Dutchman Luc Breukers, who is celebrating his first international outing this weekend. In the end he set a lap time of 1:47.510 in the #101 Red Camel-Jordans.nl Cupra TCR

During race 1, René Münnich will start with his #77 All-inkl.com Münnich Motorsport Honda Civic TCR from pole position on Friday, 25 January at 14:45 local time.

The starting grid of race 2 sees the qualifying result in reverse order. Zoltán Zengő will start from pole with the #8 Cupra TCR for the Hungarian outfit of Zengő Motorsport at 17:15 local time.

Livetimes of the races will be available on <http://tcr-series.tv/>

2019 TCR Middle East Series Calendar

25/26 January – Dubai Autodrome, Dubai

1/2 February – Yas Marina Circuit, Abu Dhabi

7/8 February – Dubai Autodrome, Dubai

Further information, results, HD pictures and live timing at <http://middleeast.tcr-series.com>

UAE National Race Day

Sorted on best lap time

TCR ME

International Circuit 4.290 km

Qualifying

25/01/2019 10:35

Qualifying (30:00 Time) started at 10:35:02

Pos	No.	Class	Name	Laps	Diff	Gap	Best Tm	In Lap
1	77	TCR	Rene MUNNICH	13			1:46.087	10
2	101	TCR	Luc BREUKERS	12	1.423	1.423	1:47.510	8
3	8	TCR	Zoltan ZENGO	7	5.080	3.657	1:51.167	4

Chief Time Keeper

Orbits

Clerk of the Course

Printed: 25/01/2019 11:06:49